VOL. III. RALEIGH, N. C., MONDAY, JUNE 22, 1868. NO. 270.

DAILY SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, PROPRIETOR.

From the Wilmington Journal.

A Northern friend, at present a resident of this State, but who evidently has some familiarity with Northern politics, recounted us a few days since with the inquiry as to the prospects of certain individuals for the Senatorship from this State. After giving our views and demonstrating the evident uncertainty of the chances, he remarked very confidently, but interrogatively, "It will require considerable money to secure the office I" For the moment we forgot the "situation"—we recollected only old North Carolina and the eminent statesmen who had represented her in the Senate of the United States, and our disposition was to remonstrate with our friend at the insult to the memory of Macon, Mangum, Badger and their distinguished compeers, but immediately the humiliating recollection forced itself upon us, and, bowing our head in very shame, we stammered out an awkward confession of the force of the question, coupled with an apology for the disgraceful admission in the changed character of our General Assembly. The insult of yesterday was indeed but a shrewd calculation to-day.

While Northern strangers are casting lots among themselves, in friendly rivalry, or contending with growing acrimony for the spoils in North Carolina, it is refreshing to read the following letter from General Charles P. Stone, formerly from Massachusetts, but now a citizen of Virginia, in response to a nomination by the Conservatives of his district for State Senator. We commend it to others similarly situated, who have yet left any self-respect to save:

GENTLEMEN:—I received your letter, informing me that, in a Convention of delegates, duly appointed from the counties of Goochland, Powhatan and Fluvana, I was unanimously chosen as the candidate to represent this Senatorial district in the General Assembly of Virginia, should the Constitution now before the people be ratified. While expressing my thanks to the Convention for this expression of confidence, and to you, gentlemen, for your flattering communication of its action, I must respectfully decline the nomination for reasons which will surely be satisfactory to you and to the Convention.

When perilous times come upon a people it is a proud position for a man to find himself selected as their free choice from among all his fellow citizens as their representative in the public councils—the defender of their rights—the protector of their interests. Being so selected, any man is bound to answer the call, and, leaving all thoughts of private interests behind, to devote himself to the duties thus imposed upon him. Too knowledge that tens of thousands of fellow-citizens freely select him to such duty ought to excite to action every string of noble, everything of ability which a man may possess. But to become thus inspired one must know that the choice is perfectly free, the confidence entire and unreserved.

It is not to be supposed that it can have been a perfectly free choice in this case. It is not to be supposed that in a Virginia Senatorial District, comprising three large counties, a free choice could set aside all the gentlemen who were born and bred in the District, and who have lived honored in it from youth up, and select one, who, while yielding to no one in a sincere and earnest devotion to the welfare, and in a desire to protect the rights, and advance the interest of the people of the district, yet has been a resident in it only two and a half years; one who was born a Yankee in Yankee land, and who looks back to five generations of Yankee ancestors, glorying in the lineage. Public duty demands of a man that he shall, if necessary for the public good, sacrifice everything that is his, save his self-respect. That can never be required, and if required cannot be yielded.

I should lose mine did I accept a public trust not freely offered, and climb to office by reason of the present peculiar condition of public affairs.

While, by its Constitution, our country claims to be a free Republic, resting upon the consent of all the whole people, no voluntary act of mine shall appear to admit that it is not one—and it would be apparent, should I now be selected from among my peers for the trust in question, that one strong point governing the choice is my mere ability to freely take an abominable test oath which disgraces the proposed Constitution of the State, rendering ineligible large numbers of the most honorable and most trustworthy voters and tax-payers within its limits.

I can never accept office under such conditions.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen, with great respect, your obedient servant,

(Signed) CHARLES P. STONE.

CORNETS IN THE SOUTH.

Occasionally there strays into our hands a periodical called The American Freedman, published in New York and Philadelphia, under the auspices of "The American Freedman's Union Commission." The June number is now before us, and contains some startling revelations. Let us, before referring specifically to these, premise that this is emphatically a feminine publication. It is, the organ of the "school marms." The association which issues it is under female control. It has eighty male officers in Philadelphia, and many elect women "Chairmen and Secretaries." All the communications are from adventurous females, and, naturally enough, the subject about which they write have a feminine origin. But the June number, we regret to say, reveals signs of a rabid reaction in favor of slavery and the rebellion, on a subject of intensely feminine interest. These ladies who have gone South are eminently the friends of development mental and physical. They think, and rightly too, that neither the human mind, black or white, nor the human body, should be subject to artificial restraints. Practically, they glory in the Venus of Milo or Medici, unhampered by dress, or Hottentot beauties developed in other directions. Judge, therefore, their surprise, when they discovered, in South Carolina, that the first tendency of the freed woman—the emancipated negress—was to check the exuberant development natural to the race, and to put on corsets and lace tightly. To [illegible] wing are literal quotations, the italics being ours:

"Miss Laura M. Towne, depicting the ig[illegible] dance and appearance in St. Helen [illegible], S. C., writes: 'The need of mental [illegible] is so great that all other personal [illegible] of less importance.' The vices of [illegible] tyranny, uncleanliness, card playing, domestic tyranny, uncleanliness, card playing, smoking, drinking, and tight lacing!

against which slavery guarded, from the self-interest of the owner, can now only be overcome by education."

In a letter of a late date Miss Laura writes: "The women and girls are just taking the idea of tight lacing," and then she adds:

"In short, we are to keep constantly on the alert by some aspect of the old enemy, generally in such matters as were before regulated by the old slave owners, the people having no intelligent reason given them for the necessity of the order they had to obey. Instruction must now remedy this."

Now, such a report must present a startling and perplexing problem to the Philadelphia ladies to whom it is made, every one of whom is at this moment encased in that feminine garment composed of muslin and whalebone, known as a corset, and laced up to the full extent of the elasticity of the female form. Are not the freed women entitled to the same privilege? If white Mrs. A. or Mrs. B. or Miss P. can lace tightly, why shall not Topsy do the same thing? They, we mean the white women, have all been to school—learned their catechism and their commandments, which men, have all been to school—learned their catechism and their commandments, which Miss Gould (another marm) says have grossly learn with difficulty, especially the eighth, and yet they all wear corsets. How, then, is it that "education" and "instruction," according to Miss Laura, can prevent the negroes from lacing themselves up? But how it is, we venture to ask, that the women of South Carolina are able to get corsets? A pair of corsets, we are credibly informed, costs at least three or four dollars. This is a large outlay for a poor negro woman. Is it possible they are furnished gratis by the Freedmen's Bureau? We should not be at all surprised.—Philadelphia Age.

THE GREAT ISSUES.

The contest now going on in this country, between the Constitutionalists, on the one hand, and the Revolutionists, on the other, must not, cannot, be let sight down to a mere partizan scuffle for office. The issues involved are true or false. If true, they should not be ignored in the platform of the National Democratic Convention, from mere motives of policy. If true, they are principles which must be contended for resolutely in the approaching campaign.—Merely obsolete issues, or measures of indifference, which could only cause distraction and division, should not be thought of.—The Constitutionalists, as a party embodied under the lead of the National Democratic party, are a live party, active, earnest and determined to wage a contest of principle, and should not be trammelled by dead men or dead issues.

The policy of certain professed Democratic leaders and journals at the North, who are willing to sacrifice the great principles of the Constitutionalists to secure the successful nomination of Judge Chase, as a means of party success, does not meet our approval. Hence we cannot sanction the course of the New York World, whose ability and efficiency, heretofore, in the support of the Constitution, all have been ready to acknowledge.

The World would have the National Democracy and Conservatives to commit themselves to abstract, though highly important and essential principles to the Constitutionalists, such as the reserved rights of the States, the maintenance of the Executive and Judicial Departments of the government intact from the encroachments of the Legislative, and the complete restoration of the Constitution, but denies that the currency and negro suffrage are proper issues for the approaching canvass. It would confine the National Convention to generalities, which may mean just what the candidates may choose to make them mean, leaving untouched those tangible issues, which are really essential to the committal of the candidates and the party to those issues, which it maintains are more essential.

The World holds that the points of difference between the bond holding Democrats and those who favor Mr. Pendleton's views are very inconsiderable, amounting only to a difference of a few hundred millions of dollars, and turning simply upon the interpretation which may be given to the law, in reference to the payment of a certain class of government bonds. But it is well known that the Northwestern people as well as the great body of tax paying people throughout the country, are more deeply interested in this question, and its cognate measures, than any other practical issue of the canvass. They will insist that the party shall pledge itself to an economical administration of the government, to a speedy reduction of taxation and to its equalization. They will contend that property in bonds shall be as liable for the support of government as property in anything else, and that the currency of the country shall be raised to a specie value as soon as possible. In order to these, while they will contend for the prompt payment of the obligations of the government to its creditors, they will insist upon it, that it shall not go beyond its pledges and pay gold to the bondholders in the redemption of the bonds, when the bonds may be legally and justly discharged by payment in greenbacks.

Moreover, the World holds that one of those great issues which have agitated the country, the past year, more than others, i. e. negro suffrage, ought not to be made an issue in National politics, since, so far as the Southern States are concerned, it has become a fixed fact, since Radical reconstruction has been effected. The World says:

"If the suffrage question came properly within the scope of Federal jurisdiction, it would be a question of first-rate importance—infinitely more important than the extension of the suffrage in England, which has agitated that country so profoundly for the last two or three years. But it is a question with which the Federal Government has no right to intermeddle. Negro suffrage in the South will never be abolished by Federal legislation, but only by the States, after such an experience of its evils as will permit it to be done with general acquiescence. Being a question of State politics, it cannot be regarded as an issue of the first magnitude in a Presidential election."

Then we are to understand that the friends of the Constitution are estopped from any further issue for the maintenance of the Constitution, on the question of suffrage in the States, because the Reconstruction Acts have settled that question; that hereafter it is to be determined by the States themselves. Is that not assuming practically the identical doctrine of the Radical Chicago platform on the question of suffrage? Where is the difference? Then the World assumes that it is a question of national politics, to be maintained by the Democratic party, that suffrage shall not be interfered with hereafter in the States by Congress, but that it is positive violation of the Constitution, in the adoption and enforcement of the Reconstruction Acts upon the Southern States, forcing, at the point of the bayonet, negro suffrage upon them, removes the question, ever hereafter, from the jurisdiction of Congress, and, therefore, the Constitutional party should not henceforth touch it! We are aware that difficulties will be in the way of the future action of Congress, when under Democratic control, in legislating upon the question of suffrage in the States, because the Democrats and Conservatives are pledged against Congressional interference. These difficulties will be increased by the fact that the Reconstruction Acts will have been rendered null because they will have expired by limitation, and, in a few years, there will be no opposing governments in the South in existence, claiming to be the rightful governments, when the Democracy will control Congress, perhaps. According to the World, the only remedy left to the injured, downtrodden white people of the Southern States, from the evil consequences of the unconstitutional legislation of Congress, is the acquisition of sufficient numbers of whites in the South to call Conventions to remove the evil by a change in the Constitutions or by successful revolution. If that be so, can it ever be done? It may, but the hope is a very faint one and must be long deferred.

But is it true, that there is no power of correction, in "the best government the world ever saw," of great evils and injustice inflicted upon a down-trodden minority of the States and people, by the enforcement of unconstitutional laws by the Legislative power of the government, simply because those laws have ceased to exist by limitation? Are the consequences of the unconstitutional action of a dominant power of Congress interminable, or beyond the correction of all the powers of the government itself? We know that all the laws, good and bad, passed by one Congress, may be rescinded by any subsequent Congress, and, of course, such evils as exist by their remaining on the statute book may be cured by abolishing the law. But the doctrine assumed by the World that, how ever unjust, or wicked, or derogatory, or damning, the effects of the unconstitutional acts of Congress may be to a portion of the States and people of the Union, they are interminable, beyond the reach of the strong arm of the government itself,—that a new party, coming into power, although its predecessors did wrong, violated the Constitution and ought to have been ashamed of such conduct, yet has no remedy in its hands to correct the evil, since the acts which produced the evil are no longer in existence,—is monstrous. What an admission! The government is not only responsible for unconstitutional legislation, but for its consequences, so long as the evil consequences remain, and it does seem to us that the onus of removing these evil consequences cannot be shifted from the shoulders of the responsible and offending party upon the weaker party, whose efforts to remove them may incur still greater evils! It, therefore, it be true that the consequences of the Reconstruction Acts upon the Southern States are beyond the reach of the Federal government, this government must be clearly and radically defective.

But negro suffrage must be an issue in the campaign. If the Democrats and Conservatives, like the World, desire to shirk that and the greenback questions, simply to make it easier for Judge Chase to stand upon, it is plain the Radical party will not allow them to shirk it. Mr. Senator Yates, of Illinois, who is not an insignificant leader in the Radical party, declared in his place some days ago:

"Every man who has voted to impose conditions upon citizenship, and commanding concerning the elective franchise, has committed himself to the doctrine that Congress has the right to control that question in all the States."

"Has it come to this, that the Republican party will draw dividing lines between the North and the South, by establishing universal suffrage in one part of the Republic and not in the other?"

"I tell Senators, I tell the Republican party—that this question must be met. Gentlemen cannot carry the petty in the sand. No question of internal or external policy can obscure it. No glare of military glory can overshadow it. The party must make the issue. It must move on to universal suffrage everywhere. It cannot be left to the States, for the States will not do it. Congress has done it in the States of the South; let Congress, by one sublime act, do it in the States of the North!"

RELIEVING DISABILITIES.

We were under the impression, formed without due examination, until our Saturday's telegraphic dispatches disabused us, that the bill relieving the disabilities of the "Governor elect" and other "rebels" had passed both Houses. It seems not, but that, on the contrary, there is a hitch in the matter, at present, which may lead to important results. The bill will come up again to-day, on a motion to reconsider the vote, by which the bill was defeated in the House, on Friday. We hope that the Democrats of the House will resist it to the death, unless it is made to include all who have been elected to office in conformity with the recent Reconstruction Acts. The faith of Congress, if that is worth any thing, is virtually pledged to all such, and any discriminating legislation is simply infamous party-ism. To-day, however, will probably tell the tale.

MILITARY PARADE.—The fourth of July (which occurs on Saturday this year) is to be celebrated at York, Pa., by the military of that place and the adjacent towns and counties. There is to be a grand picnic in Miller's woods, and a sham battle.—Balt. Sun.

One would suppose that the country has seen enough of genuine fighting, without any such tom foolery as sham battles.

Here in North Carolina, the Fourth of July is to be celebrated by a sham "reconstruction!"

A gentleman from Illinois informed us the other day that shortly after the Chicago Convention he inquired of one of the principal dealers in Grant medals in Chicago how those tokens were selling. "Well, sir," replied the dealer, himself a Radical, "either General Grant has no friends or they are the coldest set of friends I ever saw. The medals don't sell at all. Nobody wants them. You can't give them a way."—Phil. Herald.

It is reported that Montgomery Blair says that none of the candidates now prominently named will receive the Democratic nomination at New York, and that the party can only be united by bringing forward a new man.

It is said that Mr. Seward will support Grant and Colfax this fall, no matter whether the Democratic candidate should be Chase, Pendleton, Seymour, Nelson, Hancock, or even Andy Johnson himself.

STATE NEWS.

W. B. Hughes, of Henderson, who has been in prison in New York, for a long time past, has been released and has returned home.

Four Presbyterian ministers, now living in different portions of the country, are natives of Milton. By a singular coincidence, the names of all of them begin with an H.—The Chronicle gives them as follows: Rev. B. F. Hobson, Kentucky; H. G. Hill, Fayetteville; E. H. Harding, Concord; Ed. Hines, Granville.

Our excellent friend, Maj. D. S. Hill, of Louisburg, has gone into the manufacture of the Aurora Burning Fluid, which is fast growing in popularity for its cheapness and brilliancy of light.

We learn, from the Henderson Index, that, on last Saturday morning, the valuable saw mill property of Mr. S. R. Hunt, of Granville, was fired by some person, or persons, and completely burned to the ground. No clue, as yet, to the incendiaries.

Nine white citizens of Buncombe publicly announce, in the Asheville News, their withdrawal from the infamous League.

Speaking of the Leagues, the Tarboro Southerner expresses its gratification that, in many sections of the State, the colored men are learning to understand the baneful influence exerted by them. The recent outrageous proceedings of the Leagues at Battleboro, Edgecombe county, in arrogating to control by violence the political course of one of its members, have opened the eyes of several colored men in that section, and, as will be seen by the following communication, they have summarily dissolved all further connection with the association.

It is addressed to the President of the Union League at Battleboro, and is as follows:

"We, the undersigned, formerly members of the League at this place, desire to withdraw our connection and affiliation entirely from said organization.

We do not wish or intend to be held responsible or culpable for any act or outrage committed by said League in the future, and we hereby declare ourselves and all our connections with it effectually severed and ended.

Were it necessary to give our reasons for the course we have pursued, we are ready to do so at any time to any individual or parties concerned.

A detail of them here would prove too lengthy for a simple public newspaper renunciation. Suffice it to say that we were grossly deceived, not only in the design, but in the effect it has produced on our status as individuals.

We had not been informed that such an association would alienate our friends, and produce such discord in our society; nor had we been informed that it was an association instituted for the purpose of abridging our rights as freedmen. We have often felt the tinge of shame while connected with said League, and sometimes much embarrassment at the presence of our former associates. We have always heretofore enjoyed the respect of the best men, and whatever we do, politically, we intend it shall be done with open doors, without posting guards and sentinels around our assemblies. We cannot be made to believe that in a community, where all are alike concerned in its welfare, it is either right or expedient for a part or party to organize and hold meetings as secret or more so, than ourselves their rights, even of thought, to strangers and men of doubtful reputation.

We hope this expose will place us properly before our neighbors and friends, and that we shall no longer be considered as plotters and conspirators against our fellow men. We desire the good will of all respectable men, and to become useful and reliable citizens of our common country.

Respectfully yours,
WILEY TAYLOR, Col.
WILLIAM TAYLOR, "
THOS. JACKSON, "
NED MANN, "

A meeting is to be held at Wadesboro, on Monday of July Court, to organize a County Democratic Club.

A black scoundrel has been arrested and committed to jail, in Cabarrus, for attempting a rape on a little white girl, about 10 years old, the daughter of a highly respectable gentleman of the county.

THE PEABODY FUND. The semi-annual meeting of the Trustees of this Fund was held at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York, last week. Ex Govs. Graham, of North Carolina, Aiken, of South Carolina, Clifford, of Massachusetts, and Fish, of New York; Messrs. Eaton, of Maryland, and McAllister, of Philadelphia; Bishop McIlvaine, of Ohio, Mr. Samuel Wetmore and Mr. Peabody Russel were present. The object of the meeting was chiefly to listen to the report of the General Agent. Dr. Sears, and to make appropriations for the next six months. The New York World says:

"Dr. Sears' report is highly satisfactory, as showing the earnest desire of the Southern people to co-operate with the Trustees, and the progress of the system of education which has been devised, and is being actively carried out under the joint direction of the School Superintendents of the Southern States and of the General Agent. Dr. Sears has been for the last six months travelling through the States of North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, and Tennessee, conferring with leading gentlemen upon the objects of this magnificent donation, and addressing the people of the principal towns and cities upon the subject of Free Schools and Education. He has everywhere been received with the utmost kindness and cordiality. In Memphis, and other leading cities of the South, he has been tendered the hospitalities of the respective cities, and the prospect is very encouraging for the establishment of a thorough system of Free Schools and Normal Schools among the States above mentioned. About $75,000 have been definitely appropriated by the Trustees for the ensuing six months, and about $78,000 in addition have been appropriated conditionally upon the raising of money, in co-operation, by the various committees where aid is thus given. The Board granting aid varying according to circumstances, from one third to two-thirds of the amount necessary to sustain the respective schools. Particular attention has been given to the founding of Normal schools and the commencement of a system of free school education. Dr. Sears reports the entire people of the South as enthusiastic in their gratitude to Mr. Peabody and the appreciation of his gift.

Resolutions of condolence with the family of the late Hon. Wm. Raves, of Virginia, and expressing the Trustees' sense of the loss sustained by his death, were passed, and the Board adjourned to meet in Baltimore on the third Thursday of January, 1869."

Wake Forest College, N. C.

THE FALL TERM OF THIS INSTITUTION will open on the first day of August, 1868, with the prospect of increased patronage and success. The complete assurance given at the recent Commencement, of the adaptedness of the University system to the wants of the times, and of its feasibility, encourages its friends to believe that the College has entered upon a career of popularity and usefulness hitherto unknown in its history. The financial embarrassments to which all Southern Colleges have been subjected are not felt to the same extent at Wake Forest, as at some others, in consequence of the considerable amount of original endowment saved, and of the favorable reception with which the Agent of the College meets in securing additional funds. An expenditure of more than $2,000 has been recently made in improving the condition of the building and grounds.

Determined to bring its advantages within reach of the largest number possible, the Trustees, seconded by the community, have reduced the price of Board and Tuition to the lowest practicable rates.

The officers of instruction are gentlemen of tried ability in their several departments, and the success attending their efforts in the past is the best guarantee the public can have for the future.

The location of the College in point of healthfulness and accessibility, (being situated on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, a few miles from the Capital of the State,) is not surpassed by that of any other in the land; while the moral and social influences connected with and surrounding it, and the peculiar discipline enforced, present inducements to patronage of no ordinary kind.

A system of PUBLIC LECTURES on literary and scientific subjects has been introduced, with a view to increase the interest of the young men in the several departments of study and to furnish additional incentives to investigation and research.

Extensive and well selected LIBRARIES belonging to the societies, and complete APPARATUS, PHILOSOPHICAL and CHEMICAL, are not to be omitted in the enumeration of the advantages possessed.

Another encouraging feature is that there are, at present, thirteen young men engaged in studying preparatory to the work of the Ministry; and it may not be amiss to state that any Minister, who may apply for admission, will receive tuition in all the departments free of charge, and those of this class who are without means, are encouraged to apply to the Board of Education for further assistance.

REAL ESTATE AGENCY
OF
E. VAN SYCKEL,
BOUND BROOK, NEW JERSEY.

THE PIONEER OFFICE for the sale of Southern Lands to Jerseymen North Carolina Lands solicited.

Represented by S. S. CARTER, Ag't.,
MORRISVILLE, N. C.

To the Citizens of Chatham, Wake, Orange, Randolph, Alamance, Guilford, and the section of country near the Coal Fields and adjacent to the line of the Chatham & Coal Field Railroad, and the Fayetteville & Western and N. C. Central Railroads:

Having been duly appointed Agent, by the General Agent of said Real Estate Company, for the sale of Southern Lands and to induce good Farmers and Mechanics to come and settle among us I call your attention to this important opportunity of selling your surplus Real Estate for the cash, by placing it in our hands. All we propose is a fair and legal business. If we make sale for you, we have 5 per cent commission. You make little only when the money is paid. Just place your property at the real cash value of it, to-day, and, by effecting this new enterprise, you make the remainder that you retain worth more to you than the whole which you now own.

ÆTNA LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF HARTFORD, CONN.

ASSETS, $9,000,000.

No. POLICIES 52,700.

DIVISIBLE SURPLUS $1,884,768,51.

DIVIDENDS, 50 per cent.

In these days of competition between Life Insurance Companies, much is said by rival Agents, each claiming the Company he represents to be the best. Without saying anything in disparagement of any Company, or, by simple assertion, anything in its favor, the ÆTNA begs leave to refer to the annexed table, compiled from the OFFICIAL and sworn statements of twenty of the largest Companies in America, made to the Insurance Commissioners of the State of New York. The table shows the ratio of expense to each $100 received by each Company, for the three years ending January 1, 1868.

It will be seen that the expenses of the ÆTNA are much lower than any other Company; and after the average is struck, the ÆTNA, in 1865, saved $10 41 out of each $100 received—more than the average; in 1866, 87.17, and in 1867, 14.90. The receipts of the ÆTNA were, in 1865, $1,655,309.41; in 1866, $3,522,576, and in 1867, $5,729,447. Consequently its savings in the three years were $627,393.29, to which add 7 per cent. interest to July 1, 1868: $140,287.64, making a grand total of $767,267.93 saved over the average of all other Companies.

This is the measure of success, as applied by the Hon Elisur Wright, the greatest of American actuaries, to all Companies, and simply means that the Company whose RATIO of expense to its income is the least is the best able to pay large dividends to its policy holders. That the ÆTNA is THAT Company, these comparisons of official statements plainly show.

PHŒNIX MUTUAL
LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

EDSON FESSENDEN, President. JAMES F. BURNS, Secretary.

IN PRESENTING THE CLAIMS OF THE PHŒNIX MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, to the people of North Carolina, the Agent invites their attention to the following statements:

1. It is a Mutual Company, the profits being divided among the insured.
2. Its insured are allowed to travel and reside in any part of the United States and Europe, at all seasons of the year.
3. Its dividends have averaged 50 per cent yearly and are payable on the amount of premium paid by the insured.
4. Its policies are all NON-FORFEITING.
5. Its losses have been met by the annual interest received alone,—and a surplus of interest has been over to swell the general fund belonging to the insured.
6. It has paid over $300,000 of losses, and NEVER CONTESTED A CLAIM.
7. Its rates of assurance are as cheap as any Company doing a SAFE business.
8. IT WILL NOT INSURE AN UNSOUND LIFE.
9. One half the premium will be received in the note of the insured—which note, in case of death, is NEVER collected from the face of the policy.
10. IT HAS NO CONNECTION WITH FIRE INSURANCE.

Relative character of the Companies operating in North Carolina, as to their Assets and Liabilities, taken from the New York Insurance Report for the year 1867, which is the last report—showing how much of Assets each Company has to meet each dollar of Liability:

PHŒNIX MUTUAL	$1 71
ÆTNA	1 51
BROOKLYN	1 13
CONNECTICUT MUTUAL	1 03
EQUITABLE	1 94

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—A colored man, named Henderson Howell, having been employed by Dr. Richard B. Haywood for several days, called on him, on Saturday morning last, for his pay. The Dr. paid him $5, the amount due, and, on Henderson's leaving his office, two negroes, who happened to be near at hand, observing that he had some money in his hand, accosted him to know where he was going. Henderson replied, "I am going down to buy some provisions." They told him if he would go with them a short distance, in the woods, they would sell him bacon and meal very low. The blockhead listened to their story and went with them. On arriving in the woods, they ordered him, with threatening menaces, to give up his money. This he did, and was permitted to return, penniless, to get food as he could for his family. Unfortunately, Henderson says he never saw the men before, and does not know their names. He has applied to the Mayor for aid to arrest them, however, and we hope he may succeed; but the chances are bad.

MECKLENBURG FEMALE COLLEGE.—The Annual Commencement of this excellent Institution, of which the Rev. A. G. Stacy is President, will begin on the 5th. prox. The following is the Order of Exercises:

Sunday, July 5.—Commencement Sermon by the Rev. T. B. Sargent, D. D., of Portsmouth, Va.

Monday, July 6—Evening.—Sophomore Exhibition; and Address before the two Literary Societies, by Prof. J. L. Jones, of the Institution.

Tuesday, July 7.—Forenoon.—Junior Exhibition; and Literary Address by the Rev. Dr. Sargent.

Tuesday, July 7—Evening.—Commencement Exercises and Musical Entertainment.

The next Session will commence Oct. 1st.

THEY SAY that the rumor is unfounded that Daddy Kowles wants to be State Geologist. Well, he wants something, we know. Perhaps the Presidency of the North Carolina Railroad would suit him. All who saw anything of the late "Konstitooshnal Konvention" will bear witness that he is a very remarkable President. But what will Wm. A. Smith, of Johnston, say to that? Possibly C. J. will accept an adjunct Professorship of Mathematics at the University! He is said to be some on roots.

DEAD.—Mrs. Martha M. Smith, a highly respected and ancient widow lady of this town, died on last Sunday morning. The deceased was in her 78th year, and was popularly known about this section as "Aunt Patsy." The only son of Mrs. Smith was murdered in this place, in the summer of '65, and since that time the old lady, solitary and alone, has been weeping her way to the grave. Requiescat in pace.—Milton Chronicle.

THOMASVILLE FEMALE COLLEGE.

The Commencement exercises, which recently came off in this Institution, were unusually interesting and attractive.

The examination of the classes began on Monday, 1st inst., and closed Tuesday evening. The young ladies, in the impartial trial to which they were subjected, showed, by the general readiness of their answers, a familiarity with their text books, which indicated good training and industrious application.

On Wednesday, the 3rd., at 11 o'clock Rev. S. D. Adams, of the Fayetteville District, preached the annual sermon. His theme was "The Love of Christ," based upon the question propounded by the Savior to Simon Peter, in the 15th verse of the 21st chap. of St. John, which he handled not only with marked ability, but with great appropriateness to the occasion. From this sermon no one would fail to see that Mr. Adams is a good thinker, and I felt, during its delivery, that, but for his manuscript, upon which he leaned, he would have kindled and glowed into a fervent eloquence, that would have swayed his audience. No man can be truly eloquent with a manuscript. Mr. Adams was listened to throughout, however, with unbroken interest and satisfaction. He is evidently one of the solid, rising men of the Church and country.

On Thursday, at 11 o'clock, the Literary Address before the Societies of the College was delivered by Gen. Wm. L. Scott, of Greensboro. He portrayed, with a master's pencil, the character of MARY WASHINGTON, as the exampic, above all others of her sex, for the imitation of the young ladies. It was a novel theme for an address on such an occasion, but the eloquent manner in which he presented it, and the practical use he made of it, made it quite manifest that he not only aimed to please, but designed to profit. Gen. Scott, unlike too many of the legal profession, is not a neglector of Literature, as was evidenced by his address, which exhibited very fine literary culture and taste.

The Concert and graduating exercises came on, on the evening of the same day. Three young ladies, having passed through the regular course required, with the highest distinctions awarded, received diplomas. The following is the programme of

GRADUATING EXERCISES.

SOLO—Slowly and Softly Music should flow. MISS M. MAUNEY, Rowan Co.

VALEDICTORIES—"The Great Events of Human Life." MISS J. MAUNEY, Stanly Co.

MUSIC—La Reve MISS J. MAUNEY.

CONFERRING DEGREES

CHORUS—"We hail thee, glad Spring time."

The compositions of these young ladies possessed great merit, and were read by them in an admirable manner. The faculty and friends of the Institution should be proud of these her first graduates. Several others of the pupils read compositions during the day and evening. All did well. Everybody seemed delighted with the exercises throughout. The audience was large—particularly at the Concert. Many of the representative men of the country were present, and beauty graced the occasion. It was indeed a gay and brilliant season in Thomasville—truly a literary festival. Long may this young and flourishing College live to bless the Church and State. The Fall term opens, I learn, on the 4th of August. R

THE APPLE PROBLEM.

A young man asked an old gentleman for his daughter in marriage. The answer was, "Go into the orchard and bring in a number of apples. Give me one-half of the whole number, and the mother one half of the balance and half an apple over, and to the daughter one half of the remainder and half an apple over, and have one left for yourself, without cutting an apple, and then if she is willing you can have her."—He solved the question, and how many did he bring?

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I send you a solution of your apple problem.

It is properly an algebraic question in simple equations, otherwise called equations of the first degree, but can be solved by an arithmetician, not acquainted with algebraic formulæ, as thus:

1. The father of the young lady receives ½ the whole number. ½ the whole number is then left.

2. The mother receives ½ this ½—equal to ¼—and half an apple besides. This ¼ of the whole number and ½ an apple besides, being taken from the ½ remaining after the father's half, leaves ¼, less ½ an apple.

3. The daughter's share will then be ½ of the ¼ of the whole number of apples, less the ½ of the ¼ of an apple, and ½ an apple in addition: that is ⅛ the whole, being the ½ of an ¼, less ½ of an apple and ½ of an apple, or ⅛ of the whole number of apples and ½ of an apple in addition. The young man was to have 1 apple. Put these items together:

The father's share,	½
The mother's share,	¼ and ½ of an apple
The daughter's share,	⅛ and ½ do
The young man's share,	0 1 do

Add each side. ⅞ and 7 4 or 1⅞ apple will be the whole; that is ⅞ of the whole number will be 7-4 of an apple, or 1 apple and ⅞, and the whole number or 8 8ths will be 14.

Proof: Father's share, ½ of 7 - leaving 7
Mother's share, ¼ of 7 and ½ an apple 4 - leaving 3
Daughter's share, ⅛ of 3 and ½ an apple 2 - leaving 1
Young man's share, 1

The daughter's share being also ⅛ of the whole number and ½ of an apple, that is 1 and ½ and ½, making as before 2 apples, and there will no need to cut an apple. Q.

"The arrangements of nature are admirable," exclaimed a lassie during a high wind. "The same blow which disarranges our crinoline, blows dust into the eyes of the wicked young men who would take advantage of our confusion." Philosophical young lady, that.

For the Sentinel.

Editors of the Sentinel—Gentlemen:—The suggestions you advance in this (Saturday) morning's paper, upon the subject of co-operative organizations, for the employment of regular, reliable and efficient labor, are so eminently proper, and so important—nay so absolutely essential to the future prosperity of our good old commonwealth,—that your Western readers would be glad to have further thought, and perhaps some-something suggestive as to the practical inauguration of such co-operative unions.

Personally interested, I submit the following: Suppose that a convention of land holders in each county be called; whereat lists shall be signed—each land-owner pledging himself to give employment to one or more white laborers, for a specified time—say two years; giving such laborers a subsistance for the time, and, for the balance of wages, a title deed to five, ten, twenty or more acres of uncultivated land.

I am of the opinion that numerous hardy, industrious, and passably intelligent Germans or Poles, can be induced to emigrate to North Carolina on these terms; who, in a few years, would become such a political element, as might be judiciously handled against negroism, Radicalism, and that ilk; to say nothing of the benefits accruing from the reliability of such labor. Will you agitate the subject?

ALLEGED ILL TREATMENT OF A NEGRO PRISONER IN GEORGIA.

The following is in substance the affidavit of John Wells, a freedman, of Columbus, Ga., in regard to the treatment he received at the hands of military authority, while in custody as a witness in the Ashburn murder case. It is one of the number of depositions brought here by Mr. Lamar, of Georgia, to secure, if possible, some action by means of which the men now held as prisoners at Fort Pulaski may have a fair and impartial trial:

"Wells deposes that he was arrested with the other prisoners and taken to Fort Pulaski. All were stripped and searched for weapons and money, which latter was taken from each of the prisoners and has not yet been returned. Each prisoner was confined in a separate cell, with an empty cell between those occupied by prisoners.—Soon after they were confined, some person, apparently in authority, asked, in the hearing of witness, whether the razors were ready to shave the heads of the prisoners. The reply was "yes." Witness was then blindfolded and taken to another part of the fort, seated in a chair and held by two men while his head was being lathered and preparations made to shave it. Some person took hold of his head and drew it back, and the bandage was partially removed from his eyes. Witness found himself in a casemate and a cannon placed in front of him and a man appeared to be in the act of firing it. Witness became so alarmed that he begged to make a statement of all he knew. Fifteen minutes were allowed for the purpose. Witness then told all he knew in connection with the killing of Ashburn. He declared his own innocence and knew nothing to implicate others. He could not give false testimony against others, and if they meant to kill him for refusing he would have to die.—Witness was shortly thereafter re-conducted to his cell, where he was confined several days, during which time he was frequently interrogated, and was finally released, with the explanation that they believed he was honest and told the truth. Before leaving the fort he was cautioned never to speak of what occurred there, and if he did they would bring him back and keep him five years. Witness stated that the ex-Provisional Governor, James Johnson, was one of those who took an active part in terrifying and catechising the witnesses, and that Johnson conducted himself in a very violent manner."

THE OMNIBUS RECONSTRUCTION BILL.—There probably never was a more ridiculous bill drawn than that by which Congress proposes to restore certain of the unrepresented States, and which is called the Omnibus bill. This bill imposes certain conditions upon compliance with which the States shall be admitted to the exercise of their rights in the Union. The first condition—the guest preliminary requirement, that goes before all and stands above all—is that they shall adopt the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution. Only after the adoption of that amendment, indeed, do any of the other conditions apply; for only then can a State avail itself of the opportunity given by this law. That amendment leaves the regulation of suffrage to the States; accepts completely the old and irrefragable principle that the States only have authority to declare who shall be voters, and it fixes its recognition of this authority in the States by imposing a penalty upon those that shall regulate the suffrage in a way not agreeable to the party in power.—This is the preliminary to all conditions, and on the very heels of this comes another to the directly contrary effect—a condition requiring 8 states not to avail themselves of the power they have under that first and paramount condition; a condition that they shall suffer to lie dormant that great point in their sovereignty, the right to ordain who shall be voters. In one line they are made States, and of course thereby clothed with the rights of States, and in the next line they are told that if they exercise these rights the law that has made them States is null. Did a party ever so conspicuously and flagrantly stultify itself? By the very terms of one condition it shows the limit of Congressional control over States, admits and declares that it has not the right to dictate certain things, and in another condition it dictates those very things for which it had declared its powers insufficient. This bill has passed both houses of Congress and now only awaits the signature of the President to become a law.—N. Y. World.

THE UNION LEAGUES AND THE PENITENTIARY.—No sooner has one "trooly loil" person holding office in New York been dispatched for abuse of his trust, to the Penitentiary, than another of the same sort in Virginia undergoes a like fate. Mr. Catlicott was a particular friend and favorite of that eminent Union Leaguer, Mr. Horace Greeley; and Mr. Anderson, who has been sentenced by Chief Justice Chase in Richmond to pay a fine of $10,000 and to take up his residence for two years in the Virginia Penitentiary, is a nephew of Mr. John Minor Botts, whom all the Union Leaguers in the land have delighted to honor. Is it not worth while to investigate the nature of the mysterious connection which, as thus seems to be shown, must exist between extreme "loyalty" in politics and extreme looseness in finance? If things go on at this rate, it will soon be difficult to secure a quorum of members in any leading Union League Club without applying to Governor Fenton for tickets-of-leave from the Penitentiary. And what a satisfaction it must be to President Johnson to reflect that his name has been removed "from the roll of membership" on which such patronymics as those of Callicott and Anderson have long reflected lustre!—*N. FROM WASHINGTON—THE PRESIDENT'S VETO OF THE ARKANSAS BILL.

WASHINGTON, June 20, P. M.

The following is an abstract of the veto:

The approval of this bill would be an admission that "the act more efficiently governing the rebel States," and the acts supplementary thereto, were proper and constitutional, whereas the President's opinion is unchanged in this respect, but rather strengthened by the results attending their execution.

If Arkansas is not a State, this bill don't admit her. If she is a State, no legislation is necessary to her representation in Congress. Each House, under the Constitution, judges of the election returns and qualifications of its own members, and nothing is necessary to restore Arkansas but the decision, by each House, of the legibility of those presenting credentials. This is the plain and simple plan of the Constitution. Had it been adopted in 1865, instead of legislation of doubtful constitutionality, and, therefore, unwise and dangerous, restoration would long since have been accomplished.

The President again recommends the adoption of the Constitutional plan. The terms proposed are scarcely applicable to a Territory; and certainly not to a State, which has occupied a place in the Union over a quarter of a century.

The President is unable to find authority for the conditions of the bill in the Federal Constitution. The elective franchise is reserved by the Constitution to the States themselves. The bill fails to provide how Arkansas shall signify her acceptance of the fundamental conditions, nor does it prescribe penalties for their nullification. It is seriously questioned whether the Constitution has been ratified, according to the law assumed to be in force before its adoption.

The Constitution restricts the franchise, on its ratification, by tests unknown in the Reconstruction acts—among them the acceptance of the political and civil rights of all men.

It is well known that a large portion, if not a large majority, of the electors don't accept this test, and, if applied to voters North, there is reason to believe that many of them would remain away from the polls, rather than comply with its degrading conditions.

The President concludes:

"Should the people of Arkansas, therefore, desiring to regulate the elective franchise so as to make it conform to the Constitutions of a large proportion of the States of the North and West, modify the provisions referred to in the fundamental condition, what is to be the consequence? Is it intended that a denial of representation shall follow, and, if so, may we not dread, at some future day, a recurrence of the troubles which have so long agitated the country? Would it not be the part of wisdom to take for our guide the Federal Constitution, rather than resort to measures which look only to the present, and which may, in a few years, renew, in an aggravated form, the strife and bitterness caused by the legislation which has proved to be ill-timed and unfortunate?"

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, June 20, P. M.

The House was occupied with unimportant matters, until the veto of the Arkansas Bill, which passed, 110 to 31, over the veto.

It was a party vote, except Stewart, of New York, who voted with the Republicans.

The Kentucky election contest came up, and was discussed to adjournment.

SENATE.—A Bill, dividing Illinois into two Judicial Districts, with Courts at Cairo and Springfield, passed.

A large number of pension Bills passed.

Without acting on the veto, the Senate went into Executive session and adjourned.

FROM WASHINGTON—GENERAL AMNESTY, &C.

WASHINGTON, June 20, P. M.

The tax bill, reported to-day, comes up on Monday, and will occupy the House, without interruption, till concluded. It reduces whisky to fifty and tobacco from forty to thirty cents. It is elaborate in details for collection.

It is probable that a General Amnesty will be proclaimed on the Fourth of July.

The President has pardoned Confederate General Harry Heth.

The Corruption Committee continues examining witnesses.

FROM GEORGIA.

ATLANTA, June 20, P. M.

The Governor elect has just arrived from Washington, and it is rumored that the Legislature will be convened on the Fourth of July.

FROM FLORIDA.

TALLAHASSEE, June 20, P. M.

In the Legislature, to-day, Abijah Gilbert (Radical) was elected as United States Senator, for four years from March, 1869, by a vote of 43 to 24.

In the afternoon session, a majority of the members were granted leave of absence till July the 7th. Meantime, the minority will meet and adjourn.

DAILY SENTINEL.

MONDAY, JUNE 22, 1868.

BY HOOK.

The evening hours are here—my hours I wish
The day's workover, and business and trade
To the sweet rest which the hard-earn'd—
To her who is so pleasant to my eyes.

A mile of road, a common shady lane,
A patch of wood, a bridge—there stands my home;
No fairer ever yet in gilded tome
Was penc'l'd. Through the paricwi shoe grass

I see the picture that adorns its walls,
Graces each room, graces my inner life—
The picture of a happy poor man's wife!
I hear the welcome from her lips that falls.

Ere yet the sun drops in the little brook,
Into the wood we take an hour's soft stroll,
Or, seated there, perchance some marshy knoll
Communes with ours from his undying book.

I love to hear her read those trees above,
I often think the wild birds stay their song
To listen to a yet more thrilling lay.

Not all alone we wander the Maywood—
A little merry sprite, half black, half—ken,
More than a dog, and yet not quite a man,
Is our companion, jester, friend and guard.

Just half way up the road a gentle rise
Reveals the lane, and there, with tinged hope
And fear, I search each grassy curve and slope
For her who is so pleasant to my eyes.

She often comes to meet me; will she come,
And stand just in the corner of the lane?
She is my home. Oh! will she come again,
And make me by her coming, nearer home?

'Twas thus in early days we used to meet;
Yes! that small speck has grown a fluttering dress.
While the broad space between is growing less—
My busy eyes and heart outstrip my feet.

And while my heart and eyes my steps outrun,
My thoughts o'er step the present; and my fears
Say: 'Will it be thus too, in coming years,
When evening falls and the day's work is done?

"Will she still wander with me in the wood,
Still meet me in the corner of the lane?
Or shall I have to look for her in vain,
And live alone on memory's meagre food?"

(Correspondence Episcopal Methodist.)

MUNSEY, THE PREACHER.

But Munsey is the Morning star of the religious orient, and I now let me say a word or two about Munsey. As Rossett is the handsomest Methodist preacher we ever saw, so Munsey is the ugliest. I am sorry to have to say this, and I think I told Munsey, I was sorry; but it can't be helped. The fact is, no man with as much genius as Munsey possesses has any right to be good looking. Tall, slim, lean and gloomy, he looks as if he were trying to climb into heaven before his time. He is bald a son in not in the way in which you and I are bald. The fact is, if the truth must be told, it looks very much as if his body had grown up to the region where the hair on it to grow, and had then suddenly popped away it before it could make its appearance. But what a preacher he is! Whenever he has him preach but one sermon, and that we had bothered him in the preparation of, so that he had not sufficiently mastered it.—But even then we saw the gleaming of that preternatural power, which God only flashes into the intellects of the great masters. We know not where the secret of his eloquence lies. It is not in his voice, for that has neither melody nor compass. It is not in his elocution, for many a school-boy surpasses him in that. And yet the wonderful, uncanny power is there, beating and throbbing along the chords of his great thoughts, leaping like Alpine echoes along the heights and deeps of his sublime imagery, and sweeping the hearts of his audiences like a gust of music from the spirit shore. But great as he is as a preacher, he is greater as a man. While we were in Baltimore, we made it a rule to spend a portion of every day with him in his study, when he was not busy. We found him without a grain of egotism or vanity in his nature, as gentle and simple-hearted as a child, full of affection, magnanimity, charity and sympathy; in a word, one of those extraordinary natures that God gives now—and then to the keeping of his church. But Munsey is exceedingly frail, and ought not to be required to preach much. But the Church never will see that, and will soon work him to death. J. W. L.

CUT IT SHORT.

A lady who resides in this city and sports herself gally among the fashionable ton of the metropolis, was anxious to make her husband a present on the occasion of his birthday, some weeks since, and a dressing gown, she thought, would be a most useful acquisition to his domestic comforts. So she went and purchased a fine Persian pattern, one well wadded. Not remembering the exact height of her husband, she thought it best to purchase one rather too long than too short, to make sure of its usefulness.—The day was wet, her husband returned in the afternoon and she presented him with a new article of comfort; and he fancied it indeed a great comfort after he had put off his wet garments, but it was ten inches too long.

"Oh! never mind," said the affectionate wife, "I can easily shorten it to suit you."

They had a party in the evening in lower Second street and were very merry, and every one admired the beautiful dressing gown. After they had gone to bed the wind and the rain made such a noise that the wife could not sleep; her husband, however snored, musically. She arose without disturbing him—took the dressing gown and commenced her work, cutting off about the length of ten inches to make it suit her husband's stature, and then went to bed again.

In the morning she was up early to make some arrangements with her housekeeper, as several friends were expected to dinner that day. Scarcely had the lady left the room, when her sister—a good natured old lady who lived with them—stepped in on tip toe, in order not to disturb the sleeper, took the dressing gown, and, hastening to her own room, cut off about ten inches, as she knew it was too long the night before.

An hour after the gentleman awoke, and was now anxious to surprise his affectionate wife. Ringing for the servant he was told to take the dressing gown to a tailor and have it made shorter by ten inches.—The good wife was detained longer than she expected; and scarcely had the dressing-gown returned from the tailor's when she came in the room. Her husband had just risen, and proposed now to surprise his wife and enjoy his comforts. But how surprised was his better half to see her husband in a fine Persian pattern shooting jacket instead of a comfortable dressing gown!

THE MYSTERY.—Two darkies had stole a mess of pork in partnership, but Sam, having no place to put his portion in, consented to entrust his share to Julius' keeping. The next morning they met when Sam said, "Good morning, Julius; anything happen strange or mysterious down in your vicinity, lately?" "Yes, Sam, most strange thing happen at my house yesterday night. All mystery to me." "Ah, Julius, what was dat?" "Well, Sam, I tole you now.—Dis morning I went down in the cellar for to get a piece ob hog for dis darkey's breakfast, and I put my hand down into the brine and fel round, but no pork—all gone.—I couldn't tell what became wid it, so I turned up de barl, and, Sam, true as preachin' de is a had eat a hole clear thro de bottom ob de barl, and dragged de pork out!" Sam was petrified with astonishment, but presently said, "why didnt de brine run out ob de same hole?" "Ah, Sam, dat's de mystery—dat's de mystery!"

NEW ARRANGEMENT

FOR THE

SENTINEL.

Published in the City of Raleigh, N. C.,

Daily, Semi Weekly and Weekly.

William E. Pell, } Editors.
Seaton Gales, }

In view of the scarcity of money, and the severity of the times, the Proprietor of the SENTINEL has determined to reduce the terms of the paper, to commence after the 31st. DECEMBER, next, and to make such improvements in its general character as will commend it to the patronage of an enlightened public.

In POLITICS it will be thoroughly Conservative, advocating, at all times:

A strict observance of the Constitution of the United States, and the harmonious Union of equal States;

Obedience to law and the enforcement of order;

The supremacy of the civil over the military, in time of peace;

The equality of the three co-ordinate branches of the government;

The sovereignty of the States over their own internal affairs, in strict conformity to the Constitution;

The maintenance of freedom and justice to all, without distinction of color, but the supremacy of the white race as the governing class;

Opposition to Radicalism in all its phases.

As a Journal, it shall be equal to any.—The Capital markets will be regularly published.

Its LITERARY character shall be maintained and improved, by contributions from our best writers.

Finally, the SENTINEL will seek to be the special promoter of the educational, moral and economical interests of the people of North Carolina.

Terms:

Daily Sentinel, for one year	$9 00
" " six months	4 50
" " three months	2 25
Semi-Weekly Sentinel, for one year	4 00
" " six months	2 00
" " three months	1 00
Weekly " for one year	2 00
" " six months	1 00

All subscriptions strictly cash in advance.

As an advertising medium, the SENTINEL is equal to any in the State. Terms moderate.

☞ We ask every Conservative in the State to hecome our Agent to extend the circulation of the SENTINEL. The events of 1868 will be exciting and important. The WEEKLY SENTINEL should be in the hands of the great body of the people.—The terms are now so low that every one will be able to pay for it.

W. E. PELL,
Raleigh, Jan. 1st., 1868. Proprietor

GENERAL REMARKS.

Revenue stamps may be used indiscriminately upon any of the matters or things enumerated in schedule B., except proprietary and playing card stamps, for which a special use has been provided.

Postage stamps cannot be used in payment of the duty chargeable on instruments.

It is the duty of the maker of an instrument to affix and cancel the stamp thereon. If he neglects to do so, the party for whom it is made may stamp it before it is used; and if used after the 30th of July, 1864, and used without a stamp, it cannot afterwards be effectually stamped. Any failure upon the part of the maker of an instrument, to appropriately stamp it, renders him liable to a penalty of two hundred dollars.

Suits are commenced in many States by other process than writ, viz: summons, warrants, publication, &c., in which case these, as the original process, severally require stamps.

Writs of entire facies are subject to stamp duty as original process.

The jurat of an affidavit, taken before a Justice of the Peace Notary Public, or other officer duly authorized to take affidavits, is held to be a certificate, and is subject to a stamp duty of five cents, except when taken in suits of legal proceedings.

Certificates of loan in which there shall appear any printed or written evidence of an amount of money to be paid on demand or at any time designated, are subject to stamp duty as Promissory Notes.

The assignment of a mortgage is subject to the same duty as that imposed upon the original instrument; that is to say for every sum of five hundred dollars, or any fractional part thereof, of the amount secured by the mortgage, at time of its assignment, there must be affixed a stamp or stamps, denoting a duty of five cents.

When two or more persons join in the execution of an instrument, the stamps to which this instrument is liable, under the law, may be affixed and cancelled by one of the parties.

In conveyance of real estate, the law provides that the stamp office must answer to the value of the estate or interest conveyed.

No stamp is required on warrant of attorney accompanying a bond or note, when such bond or note is secured by mortgage, but one stamp duty is required on such papers, such stamp duty being the highest rates required for such instruments, or either of them. In such case a note or memorandum of the value or denomination of the stamp affixed should be made upon the margin or in the acknowledgment of the instrument which is not stamped.
